Updates from Israel Society of Investment Professionals (ISIP)

Speed Networking event

We hosted a very successful and enjoyable evening at the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange at the end of November, with around 100 finance professionals enjoying great food, interesting speakers and their first taste of 'speed networking'. Many left with new and useful contacts, and the feedback was overwhelmingly positive:

"pure success"

"this was exactly the kind of meeting we all need: to get people mingled together"

"well organized and very nice idea"

"event was a great success"

"It was a truly excellent event. You hit upon the perfect formula. A little bit of everything. Some education, some entertainment and some networking."

Photographs from the event will be available shortly and we will publish a link in our January newsletter.

Thank you again to Franklin Templeton Investments for their support for the evening.

New CFA Charterholders

As part of the event, we were delighted to host an official awards ceremony to the newest charterholders in Israel, the first time official presentations to charterholders have been held in Israel.

The newest charterholders join the 142,000 charterholders worldwide, but more importantly, they bring the number of CFA charterholders in Israel to over 50 for the first time.

Fittingly, the presentation was made by Paul Smith, CEO of the CFA Institute.

Congratulations to our newest charterholders:

- Amit Perl, CFA
- Itay Cishnevsky, CFA
- Dan Liburkin, CFA

Sponsorship Opportunity

We are currently re-negotiating sponsorship for 2018. Sponsorship includes publicity on our monthly newsletters, our website, high-profile coverage at our events and close co-operation throughout the year with leading investment professionals across the Israeli financial sector.

If you would like to find out more, please be in contact by emailing the address at the foot of the previous column.
